PACING AND TROTTING AT AUBURN. Auburn, N. Y., July 20. The second day of the New-York circuit meeting was characterized by some very fast and close racing. It took sever heats to decide the first event, and in the second heat the track record was broken by Dariel. Re-

The passport system, or "license" system, for drivers, which was hastily adopted at the last ciation, is proving to be quite as worthless and in tive as experienced turfmen predicted it would be in heading off the "ringers" that infest the trotting turf. Secretary Gother, who was responsitretting turf. Secretary Gocher, who was responsible for the adoption of the system, is now frantically searching for a certain Ohio horreman that, armed with a license from the secretary's office, has been conducting a successful "ringing" tour on has been conducting a successful "ringing" tour on has been conducting a successful "ringing" tour on has been conducting a Such horsemen as D. J. Cambau, president of the Detroit Driving Club, and W. B. Fasig, manager of Charter Oak Fark, expressed the opinion when the rule was passed that it would prove to be an aid rather than a hindrance to the turf outlaws.

The entry list for the Detroit Grand Circuit meeting is unusually light this year, owing chiefly to the fact that a rival meeting almost up to the Grand Circuit standard is in progress at Elkhart. Where there were twenty entries in the 2:13 seven this year. As against twenty six trotters in the 2:13 class there are only ten. In the 2:25 class the number has dropped from twenty-two to eleven in the 2:22 class for mores there are four in 1828, as against twelve in 1827. The falling off in the 2:12 class (trotting) is from twenty-seven to eight, in the 2:12 class (pacing), from thirty to four; in the 2:12 class (trotting), from twenty-two to five, and in the 2:17 class (pacing), from thirteen to five. Some of the other classes show a falling off almost equally marked. Nearly will of the horses that are at Elkhart and Petroli this week will meet at Cleveland next week.

Page was fired twice last winter, but he trained sound during the spring at the Guttenburg track, and was showing up well in his work only a fortnight age. Trainer Isaac Fleming had entered him in the 200 class at Detroit, and other Grand Circuit meetings.

Klatawah's mile in 2.06% at Pecria last Friday leaves all other records for three-year-old pacers in the shade. The best previous record for pacers of this age was 2:0914, and the champion record was held jointly by Searchlight, Judge Hart, Sulphide and Agitato., Not the least remarkable feature of Klatawah's performance is the fact that the great colt started against sixteen aged campaigners and beat them all in straight heats. Klatawah is a beat them all in straight heats. Klatawah is a bay colt, by the trotting stallion Steinway, 2:251, son of Strathmore, who held the three-year-old record twenty years ago. Katle G. the dam of the new champlon, is also the dam of Charles Derby, 2:20. She is by Electioneer out of Fanny Malone, the grandam of A. H. Comba's New-York road mare Mand C. 2:15, by Nigagra. Klatawah was bred by John F. Boyd, Danville, Cal., and was started twice in California last season, gaining a record of 2:181; as a two-year-old. He is in the stable of Thomas E. Keating.

THREE STRAIGHT FOR THE SEAWAN-HAKA IN THE TRIALS OF THE TWENTY-FOOTERS.

The Seawanhaka Corinthian Regatta Committee was beyond question influenced by the results of the trial races of the twenty-footers which were sailed yesterday. The Seawanhaka, designed and sailed yesterday. The Seawanhaka, designed and sailed by Clinton H. Crane, won three straight heats. The courses in each race were the same, two miles to leeward and a heat back, and the results were convincing. In the calm prior to the start there was a delay of two hours under a blistering sun, but when the breeze came everything went off smoothly. The summaries follow:

In five different contests she broke something when just winning. Her casualties were a broken mainboom, a bumpkin carried away, two topmasts over the side, two gaffs broken, also a top-sail yard and a jigger-boom. Her mainmast, topmast and bowsprit are still of the same length as when and bowsprit are still of the same length as well she was a ter, and her jigger-mast is stepped well aft, so that her jigger-boom overhangs the infiral about twenty-five feet. Curtis Douglas, of Albany, has chartered the steam yacht Gryphon for the season, and will use her at Fisher's Island, where he has his country-house. Captain Lane, formerly of the steam yacht Huntress, is in charge.

At the meeting of the Indian Harbor Yacht Club, meid at the chibblese, at Greenwich, Conn., Com-modors C. T. Wills presided, and the secretary read his report showing an increase in membership of forty this season. With its 300 members this club, therefore, ranks third in size among the yacht clubs on the Sound. The annual regatta will take place on July 20, and a steam yacht will be chartered for use as committee boat. The start will take place near the clubhouse and guests will have an excellent view of the race.

JULY CONTESTS AT BRIGHTON.

TALK ABOUT HAMBURG AND ORNAMENT.

Lady Reel is the champion of the turf. In neither hemisphere at this date is there a horse of Ham-Jeldah, first in the Epsom Derby England, could not outrun Hamburg at a yard ish turf, nowhere on the turf of this terrestrial ball, exists the equal of the peeriess Hamburg. He stands alone. John E. Madden owned Hamburg and sold him to the Copper King. A century from now, when New York contains a dozen million of taxpayers, and America rules the world, John E. Madden will be spoken of as an Homeric hero, because he sold Hamburg to Marcus Daly and because he was the employer of the unique and unapproachable Gaelle lockey Sims. Madden talks ancient Erse in his sleep. When he is awake he frequently converses in the tongue of the Rubaivat of Omar. Khayyam Sims sings the runes of the primeval Iri-h hards in his dreams, but in his waking hours he favors the abstruse dialect of Current turf gossip includes in its budget filnts of a possible meeting of Hamburg and Ornament special race. James Rowe trains Ornament. William Lakeland trains Hamburg. Each them is a two-inch rapid-firing gun within easy range of the Brighton betting-rios, and when their fuses get à touch of fuinitrate the din is deafening. Each explodes at the approach of a detonating cap, is Ornament's smokeless powder magazine. burg, then the Oregon's biggest gun is beeming and the Vizcaya's batteries are dumb. When Mr. Norton, prime owner of Ornament, announces his decision as to the son of Order and Victorine, then the trainer of Ornament subsides like a roman candle which has been smothered by a siphon. Marcus Daly breathes in atmospheric occans of oxygen and ozone in Montana. From Helena and Butte City, from the entire area of the magnificent Northwest, the microbes of the Brighton betting ring were exiled long ago, Hamburg is Marcus Daly's invincible champion. Colt and owner suit each other. Mr. Daly is not so simple as to concede special conditions to the owner of Ornament. Why should he? Ornament has laurels. But his record is inferior to the record of Hamburg. The fame of Hamburg would not increase a jot by a triumph over Ornament. The Norton horse has everything to gain and nothing to lose if Hamburg should concede weight to Ornament in a special race. Hamburg is now at the top of the turf. No special races can enhance his exploits.

It was a Maspeth card at Brighton. But pleasant winds came from the tumbling salt of Sandy Hook surges and cooled all comers. Whenever gentle gales gamboi from the water tand Brighton looks toward wide wet plains at several points of the compass) wayfarers who go down to the sands upon witch the breakers of the hay are always crumbling set the full benefit of the heach. As on Tuesday, the solourners at the course escaped the ills of inland heat and intemperate humidity. But the bookmakers racked them and tornented them. That hetting-ring resembles Nero's gardens of living torches, and the tender mercies of the bookmakers are ever cruel.

In five out of the six races file favorites were overcome, and the bookmakers were so happy that they out of the six races file favorites were in the Philippines.

J. E. Madden, the well-known owner from Kildar, won the second race with Savory. This colt was ridden by the tiny Zambesi rider O'Connor, because Mr. Madden's celebrated Wicklow equestrian Sims could not ride at the weights. Every Celt on the track hurrahed wildly when O'Connor took the prize w the trainer of Ornament subsides like a Sims, while Kilkenny Clancy's Cuban cow Maximo Comez was third.

Erin was in front again when Danny Maher, of Connaught, got Leedsville over the line first in the fourth race, after his success with the Donegai filly Tabouret in the third contest. And the bookmakers at the car whistled "The Wearing of the Green."

These are busy weeks. Spain is not yet sensible enough to surrender. commorant has run? This Cormorant ran several ghastly races before this Brighton meeting began. Vesterday the R. & R. syndicate backed Cormorant as if he were Jean Beraud, and the starter dropped the flag when Cormorant was so far in front that no other horse had a chance. It was one of the worst starts ever seen at Brighton. That is a harsh thing to say. But it is absolutely true. Why not say it, then? The start gave the race to Cormorant. The owners of Cormorant own Tillo. The start in the Suburhan made it impossible for Ornament, the public idol in the Suburhan, to win that race, and made it possible for Tillo to win it. Is this an endless chain on the turf with the letters R. and R. chief among the links and the letter F. as the key? Isn't this amusing? Kirkwood ran second to Cormorant. Has everybody forgotten the Kirkwood scandal at Brighton some days ago? The Kirkwood scandal. the Cormorant scandal, the Tillo Suburban scandal are golden links in a gleaming, endless chain.

Mr. Beard wore snowy West Point trousers yesterday, and was by far the handsomest owner on the American turf—or the English turf, either. Mr. Beard wore snowy which have captured Santiago without any aid from General Shaffer if he had ever made a landing in Cuba. Mr. Beard simper Peaufort won the hurdle race handsomely, and Beaufort, as his name indicates, is a handsome herse. The riders in that hurdle skirmiels were chiefly Celtic. The Home Ruiters from Leinster are smart riders of jun-pers. One or two of them had become so sunburned in their voyage from the Shannon that they reminded the spectators of the Birch & Backus minstreis in 1872, it is a noteworthy thing on the American turf that Irish owners of horses are almost always wild to put black-and-tan jockeys on their horses. But the oddest thing at Brighton is the extremely conspicuous fact that colored tous for New-York farobanks are allowed to run all over the grandstand its Pinkerton askes? Montreal, July 20.-The talent and the bookles broke even at Bel-Air to-day. Martimas had things all his own way in the St. Lawrence Stake for two year-olds, easily outclassing the only other two starters. Royal Salute, however, had tired himself out by his actions at the post, seventeen minutes being occupied in getting the three horses off. Sum-

A sudden desire to have a special race between Hamburg and Ornament was manifested in certain quarters yesterday. It always requires two persons to make a match, consequently it was surprising that William Lakeland, who trains Hamburg, or W. I. Powers, who is Marcus Daly's agent, was not consulted about the matter. The readers of Mr. Lakeland is ready and willing to give them a match at even weights with Ogden, because both the foregoing statements were printed in The Tribune. The offer to match Ogden still holds good. So the owners of Ornament have an excellent opportunity to make a match and give the public a fine exhibition, as a contest between these two crack racers would certainly prove a drawing public a fine exhibition as a contest between these two crack racers would certainly prove a drawing card.

Marcus Daly arrived at the Brighton track yesterions, but was not prepared to make any state-terions, but was not prepared to make any state-tie had a short talk with Faral, and afterward met Lakeland and started at once to have a look at his champion racer Hamburg Mr. Daly intends to remain in the city several days.

The starting was really startling. So much so that there was much unfavorable comment about the start given to Cotmorant.

Howland made his first appearance at Brighton, and was extensively backed by learned men who journesed to the track to teap a harvest. Maner on Tanouret, however, spoiled the good thing by einning clevely from J. E. Madden's speedy colt. The hurdle tace was a besuitful exhibition of interjetence. It would have gladdened the heart of a Princeton feetball player to witness the race. Tody's Hamilton should lose no time in annding for some of the riders who ride in nurdle races in this country, for they would certainly prove star attractions in the United Kingdom. The stewards called three of the lockeys into the stewards' stand effect the race. The horses were placed as they finished, and everybody who desires failness in racing anxiously awaits the decision as to the punishment of the lockey that did the foul riding.

A large number of herses has been shipped to Saratogs, and more are to follow.

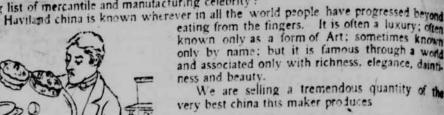

If the barrier were abolished it might improve the eterting. The track is an perfect condition. It might prove beneficial to racegoers if the stewards made an effort to discover "dopey" boxies, who are more numerous than "dopey" horses. What the sewards need most is an application of the "turpentine dope" that an owner told one of them about when he was a steward last year.

It cannot fool a baseball follower The Pittsburg men took a commanding lead i doubt. Doheny was knocked out of the box in the first inning and Meekin, who relieved him, did good work. The home players tried to raily in the last inning, but the three runs scored only served to make the defeat more galling. Hartman did some particularly stupid playing, both in the field and on the bases. Killen pitched cleverly up to the last inning, and his support was good throughout. Pittsburg played as if it expected to win easily. Score: the opening inning, and the result was never in BROOKLYN LOSES TO LOUISVILLE. MAGEE HOLDS THE HOME TEAM DOWN TO ONE SINGLE.

One little hit was all that the Brooklyn baseball team could make yesterday in the game with the Louisville team at Washington Park, Brooklyn Magee pitched with telling effect right through the nine innings, and his support was of the best. Yeager did well up to the eighth inning, when the Louisville players gauged his curves and batted out a victory. The work of Clingman, Wagner and Clarke was excellent. The attendance was small.
